

Team 1 Homenote

AnchorPoint Christian School

1/30/2016

Dear Parents,

The January reading calendars may be turned in starting on Wednesday. Please remember that parents need to sign them in order to receive a certificate. The new calendars will be coming home on Wednesday. The routine of reading is so important in academic success. It also is a wonderful way to wind down a busy day with your child.

We will have Valentine's Day card exchange for the class. Last week I sent out the class list. If you need a copy please e-mail me. The kids enjoy this fun exchange of friendship.

Our weekly estimation station has had some tricky items to guess. The kids have been having fun trying to get the closest guess. Last week there were magnet letters. The actual amount was 47 and our 2 closest guesses were 44 and 50!

Team 1 Information

A look at our week

In Bible we are continuing to learn about the Lord's Prayer. We will practice this as a class. This week in Math the Youngers will learn about the "function machine" later called frames and arrows in our math curriculum. We will wrap up this unit with a review later this week. The Olders will be working on number stories. They will also practice "ballpark estimates". In literacy work we are working on writing paragraphs. Earlier this month we read a story about Trouper the raccoon. The kids did a great job writing a 3 sentence paragraph about him. We will continue practicing this form of writing. In Social Studies we will take a look at our community government. We will learn about the job of the mayor.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions that may arise.
