1/8/2018

Dear Parents,

Our first full week of January and hopefully the temperatures will moderate so that we can go outside for more recesses. Please make sure that your child has all the snow gear they need to stay warm and dry.

A new bible memory verse is coming home today. It will be due on January 17.

This week the Olders will begin having 2 math assignments each week. The Monday work is due on Wednesday. The Wednesday work will be due on Friday. Math work for the Youngers is due on Friday.

On Friday we have a special assembly in the afternoon. It will be a presentation from the NED show. NED= Never give up, Encourage others, Do your best. I'm excited to hear them.

A look at our week

In Bible this week our stories focus on the building of the tabernacle. God instructs Moses in what to use in the construction of the Tabernacle. Math-The Youngers will begin learning math facts. We will begin by talking about "turn-around facts". The unit will end with a review on Friday. The Olders are finishing a unit with a test on Tuesday. The new unit is on 3-dimensional and 2-dimensional shapes. Our literacy work continues looking at parts of speech. We will use our knowledge as we create books during writing time. The small reading groups continue so please look for the book bags to come home for reading practice with you. In our Social Studies unit we will learn about "How we get what we need and want". Topics like consumer and producer will be discussed.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions that may arise.
