

Team 1 Homenote

AnchorPoint Christian School

11/13/2017

Dear Parents,

During our parent-teacher conferences this week we will take to review your child's learning. I like to hear from you as to what you have been observing at home. We want to encourage learning and discover ways to help if there is a concern.

Our giving project of the year was revealed in chapel a few weeks ago. This year AnchorPoint Christian would like to give to De Vos children's hospital. We are collecting change in jars. Each team has a jar. It is a friendly competition for a wonderful cause. Can you drop off your change today?

Your child will bring home their first report card on Wednesday. This first trimester brings with it so many changes for the children. They have settled into the school routine by this time of the year.

A look at our week

In Bible we will learn about Joseph becomes a prisoner, but God uses his time in prison. Later Joseph is given a high position in Pharaoh's court. Math-The Youngers are practicing skip counting. We will also spend time with dimes, nickels, and pennies. The Olders will practice "frames and arrows" and making change. This week during literacy we will practice using the "ow" and "ou" chunks. Think of the words; now and out, they endings sound the same. Knowing that they can both say the same thing will help when decoding unknown words. In Science we will be learning about our sense of smell. If you can't smell does food still taste the same? We will learn about this sense that God gave us to explore His world.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions that may arise.
