

Team 1 Homenote

AnchorPoint Christian School

11/6/2017

Dear Parents,

Parent teacher conferences are coming up. I look forward to seeing you and finding out more about your child. You may schedule on line for the time that works best for you. I appreciate hearing from you through e-mail or in person about any concerns or questions you have.

Our new Bible memory will be a challenge. We will be learning Psalm 100. If you would practice reading it out loud at home this will help your child. In class we will be practicing it as well. It is a beautiful Psalm for this time of the year especially.

A look at our week

In Bible we will learn about Joseph and his brothers. His father Jacob favors him and this causes jealousy. God has promised to take care of Joseph. Math-The Youngers will be adding and subtracting on the number line. We will practice telling time to the half hour. Frames and arrows will be introduced. The Olders are beginning a new unit. They will work on place value, making change, and reading the time on a clock. This week our literacy work will focus on decoding sounds. Whether your child is a reader or a beginning reader, decoding unknown words is an important skill. During our group reading time we will discuss and practice the strategies to use. In Science we will be learning about our sense of hearing. Last week we found out about sight and how God has formed our eyes. This week we will discover ways to keep our hearing safe and what happens when a person becomes deaf.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions that may arise.
